IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE STATE OF WASHINGTON IN AND FOR THE COUNTY OF PIERCE

PRISON LEGAL NEWS, INC., a Washington non-profit corporation, Plaintiff,

v.

WASHINGTON STATE DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS,

Defendant.

No.

COMPLAINT FOR DISCLOSURE OF PUBLIC RECORDS

I. PARTIES

1. Plaintiff. Plaintiff, The Prison Legal News ("PLN") is a Washington non-profit corporation, qualified to do business in the State of Washington, with its main office in Seattle, Washington. PLN is an independent monthly publication created by and for prisoners and their advocates. Founded in 1990, PLN provides news and analysis of judicial rulings that affect correctional institutions. PLN has approximately 3,200 subscribers, comprised of prisoners, investigative journalists, academics, lawyers, judges and lay members of the public, and the newspaper reaches all 50 states and 23 countries worldwide.

2. Defendants. Defendant Washington State Department of Corrections ("DOC") is a public agency of the state of Washington. McNeil Island Corrections Center ("MICC") is an institution operated by DOC and located in the town of Steilacoom, in Pierce County, Washington.

II. FIRST CAUSE OF ACTION

3. Request for Public Records. On or about April 16, 2000, Paul Wright, reporter and editor for PLN, prepared and sent a written request to Alice Payne, Superintendent of MICC, requesting documents “pertaining to the death of former MICC employee Bruce Barrett” including “his cause and location of death, any investigation into such and any other materials pertaining to his death and potential malfeasance while employed by the Department of Corrections.” Mr. Wright had learned of Barrett from an article published in The News Tribune, a daily newspaper in Tacoma, Washington. The article stated that Barrett, who was a physician’s assistant at MICC, died in March 1999 of an accidental narcotics overdose caused by drugs Barrett had stolen from MICC. The article also said MICC knew of Barrett’s drug problems when it hired him and that Barrett had been investigated before. A true and correct copy of the October 28, 1999, article is attached hereto as Exhibit A. Mr. Wright’s PDA request additionally sought copies of “any safety inspection(s) of MICC conducted by any state or federal agencies from January 1998 to the present. This includes physical, seismic (earthquake), fire, water, ventilation, asbestos, sewage and similar safety issues.” A true and correct copy of Mr. Wright’s request is attached hereto as Exhibit B.

4. Requested Documents are Public Records. RCW 42.17.020(36) defines “public record” to include:

[A]ny writing containing information relating to the conduct of government or the performance of any governmental or proprietary function prepared, owned, used or retained by any state or local agency regardless of physical form or characteristics.

The records requested are records relating to the death and misconduct of a government employee that are believed to have reflected on his ability to perform his duties, as well as records regarding the safety of a state prison—clearly records relating to the conduct of government and performance of a governmental or proprietary function. The records are further owned, used, and retained by the DOC, a state agency. The documents in question are therefore public records. Under RCW 42.17.260, they must be made available for inspection and copying.

RCW 42.17.260 provides:
(1) Each agency, in accordance with published rules, shall make available for public inspection and copying, all public records unless the record falls within [a specific exemption] . . . To the extent required to prevent an unreasonable invasion of personal privacy interests protected by RCW 42.17.310 and 42.17.355, an agency shall delete identifying details in a manner consistent with RCW 42.17.310 and 42.17.315 when it makes available or publishes any public record; however, in each case, the justification for the deletion shall be explained fully in writing.

5. Failure to Respond Promptly. PLN was entitled to promptness and the agency’s fullest assistance and most timely possible action on PLN’s request. RCW 42.17.290, .320. The DOC was required to respond to PLN’s request no later than five (5) business days following the request by either denying or producing the record. RCW 42.17.320. DOC did not provide an initial response until May 8, 2000 – sixteen (16) business days after the request – in violation of the PDA. Moreover, DOC did not provide any records or explain why they were being withheld. Instead, Administrative Assistant Corrina McElfish provided a one-paragraph letter stating, without explanation, that DOC would give itself an additional thirty (30) business days to respond. Instead of a response, DOC initiated a long and tortured exchange of correspondence that still – more than seven months after the request – has not resulted in the disclosure of records. A true and correct copy of Ms. McElfish’s letter is attached hereto as Exhibit C.

(a) Because Mr. Wright had not received a timely response from DOC, he wrote to DOC Public Disclosure Officer Kay Wilson-Kirby on May 7, 2000, to appeal DOC’s inaction. On May 18, 2000, Ms. Wilson-Kirby claimed that although Mr. Wright had submitted a proper PDA request, DOC allegedly misrouted the PDA request, and Ms. McElfish did not receive the document until May 1. DOC therefore refused to consider Mr. Wright’s appeal until Ms. McElfish provided a response. True and correct copies of Mr. Wright’s letter and Ms. Wilson-Kirby’s response are attached hereto as Exhibits D and E.

(b) On June 9, 2000, Ms. McElfish wrote to Mr. Wright but failed to provide the response required by the PDA. Instead of releasing documents or citing applicable exemptions, Ms. McElfish announced that “I am going to discontinue researching your request.”

Ms. McElfish acknowledged she had “yet to determine to what extent the documents are disclosable,” but she did not describe plans to do so as required by the PDA. Ms. McElfish decided she did not need to comply with the PDA because Mr. Wright’s prison account did not contain enough funds to cover copies of all the potential documents. Ms. McElfish did not provide Mr. Wright the option of inspecting or personally copying the documents as required by the PDA. She did not consider that PLN might provide funding other than Mr. Wright’s prison account. She did not provide a description of the documents she had found or explain how many applied to the two requests made by Mr. Wright. Ms. McElfish made the unilateral decision not to complete the PDA request based on her own view that the request was too voluminous and expensive to complete – an excuse which is not covered by any exemption in the PDA. A true and correct copy of the letter from Ms. McElfish is attached hereto as Exhibit F.

(c) Mr. Wright continued efforts to review the documents. In a letter to Ms. McElfish dated June 14, 2000, Mr. Wright explained the deficiencies of Ms. McElfish’s previous response. Mr. Wright requested that Ms. McElfish identify which records related to Bruce Barrett, because PLN wanted to purchase those documents. As for safety inspection documents, Mr. Wright explained that “since the documents are voluminous and probably not all of which I am interested in, I would like to examine the records personally and... then purchase copies of those records which will further my needs.” Mr. Wright alerted Ms. McElfish to the PDA requirement that DOC allow inspection without fee and to segregate and disclose non-exempt documents. Finally, Mr. Wright explained that PLN possessed funds for copies and that his personal financial status was not a relevant factor under the PDA. A true and correct copy of the letter from Mr. Wright is attached hereto as Exhibit G.

(d) Mr. Wright received no further response from Ms. McElfish. He followed up with another letter on June 20, 2000, seeking a price quote for documents related to the death of Bruce Barrett and an appointment to review safety inspection documents. A true and correct copy of the letter from Mr. Wright is attached hereto as Exhibit H.

(e) Because DOC still had not disclosed documents by July 30, 2000 – more than three months after the initial request – Mr. Wright appealed the delay to Ms. Wilson-Kirby again.
Mr. Wright described his request again, explained how DOC had failed to respond, and requested clarification about whether DOC planned to respond at all to his request for documents or whether he could appeal the inaction. A true and correct copy of the letter from Mr. Wright is attached as Exhibit I.

(f) In a letter dated August 14, 2000, Ms. Wilson-Kirby responded that DOC “is currently in the process of reviewing the information that you have requested.” DOC said the stalling did not meet the requirements of a final agency action, so Mr. Wright could not appeal.
Instead, “Ms. McElfish has not denied your requests but is in the process of reviewing all requested information.” DOC did not provide any estimate of when it finally would disclose documents or even cite an exemption under the PDA justifying nondisclosure. A true and correct copy of the letter from Ms. Wilson-Kirby is attached as Exhibit J.

(g) Four months after the PDA request, on August 17, 2000, DOC provided a description of responsive documents and cited PDA exemptions for the first time. A letter from Ms. McElfish stated that DOC had identified four documents regarding Bruce Barrett. Yet DOC agreed only to release one documents, the Certificate of Death, which DOC described as “public information.” DOC refused to release any of the Critical Incident Fact Finding Review or MICC investigation report, citing RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) and (d). DOC provided no explanation of how or why those PDA exemptions applied to the documents or why DOC did not segregate and release disclosable portions of those documents. DOC also withheld the King County Medical Examiner’s Autopsy Report according to RCW 68.50.105. Moreover, Ms. McElfish did not state whether the four records were the only records DOC had regarding Barrett’s malfeasance.
The News Tribune’s article said Barrett had faced investigations before, but Ms. McElfish did not ever mention prior malfeasance. Also, DOC did not cite any exemptions preventing disclosure of any safety inspection documents. It provided a list of documents broken down by type of inspection but, rather than making the documents promptly available for inspection as required by the PDA, DOC told Mr. Wright to "review the list below and indicate which documents you want to review first and rank those remaining by order of importance." A true and correct copy of the letter from Ms. McElfish is attached hereto as Exhibit K.

(h) Mr. Wright promptly identified the safety records he required and informed DOC in a letter to Ms. McElfish dated August 22, 2000. He requested inspection of "all documents except those pertaining to: fire drills and fire extinguisher inspections. Those two categories of documents constitute the bulk of documents cited in your response." Mr. Wright stated that he would determine copying needs after the inspection and requested that MICC "schedule the review promptly." Finally, Mr. Wright questioned whether MICC was claiming that a blanket exemption prevented even partial disclosure of documents regarding Bruce Barrett, since DOC had not clarified how exemptions applied to those documents but also had not indicated that it would segregate and release disclosable material. A true and correct copy of the letter from Mr. Wright is attached hereto as Exhibit L.

(i) Mr. Wright received no response to his letter. Counsel for PLN wrote to Ms. McElfish on September 1, 2000, to follow up Mr. Wright's concerns. Counsel explained that deceased employees did not have a protected privacy interest covered by RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) or (1)(d). Moreover, counsel noted that DOC had not segregated disclosable material or explained how the exemptions applied to the documents. PLN's counsel also urged MICC to schedule review of the safety documents immediately, as DOC had not claimed any exemptions prevented disclosure of those documents. A true and correct copy of the letter from Shelley Hall is attached hereto as Exhibit M.

(j) On September 15, 2000, DOC released the death certificate for Bruce Barrett. However, it heavily redacted the document, even though DOC originally had said the document was public and had not claimed that any PDA exemptions applied. Five months after the request, DOC now claimed RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) required redaction of Mr. Barrett’s parents’ names, although they were not employees of DOC. Second, DOC redacted the name of the person who identified Barrett’s body under exemption RCW 42.17.310(1)(e), although DOC provided no explanation of how anyone’s life or property would be threatened by disclosure or how identifying a body is related to witnessing the commission of a crime. Third, DOC redacted Mr. Barrett’s social security number, date of birth, and veteran status. DOC again claimed RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) applied and again provided no support for this claim. Fourth, DOC redacted Mr. Barrett’s residential address under RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) and (u) with no explanation. Finally, DOC redacted the cause of death “in accordance with RCW 70.02.” DOC did not explain what portion of RCW 70.02 applied or how it applied. The one paragraph letter provided no details justifying any of the redactions. A true and correct copy of the letter from Ms. McElfish is attached hereto as Exhibit N.

(k) The September 15, 2000, letter failed to mention the safety inspections requested by Mr. Wright. To this date, DOC has refused to schedule inspection of the records although it makes no claim that exemptions prevent inspection.

(l) Despite DOC’s refusal to disclose basic information regarding Mr. Barrett’s death, another agency has provided the same details without claim of exemptions. The King County Medical Examiner’s Office responded to a separate PLN request by providing a copy of its investigative report. The Medical Examiner did not redact a single item, including parents’ names, name of the person who identified the body, social security number, date of birth, military status, and residential address. A true and correct copy of the document released by the King County Medical Examiner is attached hereto as Exhibit O.

(m) On October 11, 2000, Ms. McElfish finally responded to the letter from Mr. Wright’s attorney. She stated that the safety documents Mr. Wright had requested were “located in multiple offices throughout the institution. After I have all the documents in hand and have reviewed each document, I will schedule Inmate Wright for an appointment to inspect them.” Ms. McElfish did not explain why the DOC waited seven months before even beginning to gather the documents Mr. Wright had requested. She also failed to respond to the attorney’s request for an explanation of why DOC was withholding documents regarding Bruce Barrett and his drug problems. Ms. McElfish only cited the statutory provisions again without describing why DOC thought they might apply. A true and correct copy of the letter from Ms. McElfish is attached hereto as Exhibit P.

On November 3, 2000, Mr. Wright sent a letter to Ms. Wilson-Kirby again appealing Ms. McElfish’s inaction and her refusal to disclose Bruce Barrett documents.
Mr. Wright has not received a response. A true and correct copy of the letter from Mr. Wright is attached hereto as Exhibit Q.

6. Refusal to Make Public Records Available. The DOC has failed to disclose public records responsive to PLN’s request. After seven (7) months of delay, DOC still refuses to allow inspection of safety documents that it does not claim are exempt. The PDA requires a response in five business days, which DOC failed to provide. When DOC did respond, it unilaterally decided documents were too voluminous to produce. Even after DOC located documents, it simply failed to respond to requests to disclose the documents. In addition, DOC has withheld documents regarding Bruce Barrett in their entirety without explaining why exemptions allegedly apply to the entire document. Moreover, DOC has failed to confirm whether the cited documents are the only ones DOC has regarding Barrett’s malfeasance.

7. Unlawful Redaction and Failure to Properly Segregate. DOC finally acknowledged some responsive documents regarding Bruce Barrett’s death exist, but it is refusing to disclose most of those documents without explaining how the claimed exemptions allegedly apply. DOC only has stated – without further explanation – that RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) and (d) prevent disclosure of the fact-finding review and investigative report. For the death certificate that DOC has released, DOC has redacted the document heavily but has not explained or established why the redacted information is exempt under RCW 42.17.310(1)(b), (d), (e), (u) or RCW 70.02. Thus, DOC has violated RCW 42.17.310(2), which imposes a duty on the part of the agency to segregate and to release all portions of a record that are not exempt. In addition, it has violated RCW 42.17.310(4) that imposes a duty to explain why the exemptions apply.

(a) Employee Privacy Exemption Does Not Apply. RCW 42.17.310(1)(b) exempts "personal information in files maintained for employees . . . to the extent that disclosure would violate their right to privacy." A review and an investigative report prepared after an employee’s death are not “maintained for” that employee. Moreover, information is only “personal” if it is highly offensive to a reasonable person and of no legitimate concern to the public. RCW 42.17.255. The information is not “personal” as defined by case law. Finally, a deceased person does not retain privacy rights to such information. The law does not allow blanket exemptions to prevent disclosure of entire documents under this statutory provision. DOC also applies (1)(b) to details from Barrett’s death certificate. The exemption does not apply for the same reasons. Exemption (1)(b) also cannot apply to information regarding Barrett’s parents, because they are not employees and within the scope of the exemption’s language, and it is not highly offensive to reveal that they are related to Barrett.

(b) Privacy Portion of Investigative Records Exemption Does Not Apply. DOC seeks to withhold the investigative report and fact-finding review based on privacy in exemption (1)(d). Exemption (1)(d) fails to prevent disclosure for the same reason as (1)(b). In addition, reports regarding investigations of misconduct by a public employee are not private. Even if they contained private information, DOC is required to segregate and disclose non-exempt materials.

(c) Victim/Complaint Privacy Exemption Does Not Apply. The DOC cannot show that RCW 42.17.310(1)(e), which exempts only that information “revealing the identity of persons who are witnesses to or victims of crime or who file complaints . . . if disclosure would endanger any person’s life, physical safety, or property,” applies to this request. The cited redaction is the name of the person who identified Barrett’s body. This person did not witness or become victim to a crime or file a complaint with a law enforcement agency. The exemption is flatly inapplicable.

(d) Residential Address Exemption Does Not Apply. RCW 42.17.310(u) exempts “the residential addresses and residential telephone numbers of employees or volunteers of a public agency which are held by the agency in personnel records, employment or volunteer rosters, or mailing lists of employees or volunteers.” A death certificate from the Health Department is not a personnel record or roster, nor is it a mailing list. On a more basic level, Barrett is no longer an employee. The exemption does not apply to his address.

(e) RCW 70.02 Does Not Apply. RCW 70.02 is an entire chapter in the RCW. As such, contains several provisions regarding the confidentiality of medical records held by health care providers. DOC does not specify which of the many provisions of RCW 70.02 supposedly exempts the cause of Barrett’s death from disclosure. DOC was not Barrett’s health care provider, nor does the death certificate relate to treatment. However, since the DOC is citing the entire chapter of the Washington statutes and no specific provision, it is impossible to know whether DOC applied this exemption properly, because it provided no details regarding the information redacted, the specific exemption, and the exemption’s possible application to that material. RCW 42.17.310(4) requires the state to provide such details.

III. JUDICIAL REVIEW AND BASIS FOR RELIEF

8. Right to Judicial Review. RCW 17.42.340 provides that any agency action denying access to public records for inspection and copying is subject to judicial review by a show cause motion:

(1) Upon the motion of any person having been denied an opportunity to inspect or copy a public record by an agency, the superior court in the county in which a record is maintained may require the responsible agency to show cause why it has refused to allow inspection or copying of a specific public record or class of records. The burden of proof shall be on the agency to establish that refusal to permit public inspection and copying is in accordance with a statute that exempts or prohibits disclosure in whole or in part of the specific information or records.

RCW 42.17.340(1).

RCW 42.17.340 also states that the court shall not defer to any determination made by the agency, but shall review the matter de novo. In addition, the court may examine any record in camera and the court must take into account the public policy in favor of disclosure.

(3) . . . Courts shall take into account the policy of this chapter that free and open examination of public records is in the public interest, even though such examination may cause inconvenience or embarrassment to public officials or others. Courts may examine any record in camera in any proceeding brought under this section.

9. Right to Attorney’s Fees and Costs. RCW 42.17.340(4) provides that any person who prevails against an agency in any action seeking the right to inspect or copy any public record shall be awarded all costs, including reasonable attorneys’ fees. PLN is entitled to recover such reasonable costs and attorneys’ fees incurred in bringing this cause of action.

10. Statutory Penalty. Finally, RCW 42.17.340(4) provides that the court must award the person who prevails against an agency an amount no less than $5.00 and not to exceed $100.00 for each day that he was denied the right to inspect or copy a public record. No showing of bad faith is required, but bad faith is a factor to consider when determining the size of the award within the $5.00 to $100.00 per record per day range. The DOC has exercised bad faith in refusing to comply with the PDA in its dilatory actions in delaying responses to PLN’s requests. The fact that another agency released information identical to that which DOC claims is exempt shows DOC’s bad faith. To deter future willful violations of the PDA by this agency, the Court should award PLN the maximum statutory penalty of $100 per record for each day PLN has been denied the right to inspect or copy responsive and non-exempt records.

IV. PRAYER FOR RELIEF

WHEREFORE, PLN prays for judgment against the DOC as follows:

COMPLAINT - 11
1. Declaration that the DOC failed to respond promptly to PLN's request for records dated April 16, 2000, thus violating RCW 42.17.320;
2. Declaration that the DOC violated RCW 42.17.260 by failing to produce all responsive and non-exempt records.
3. Declaration that the DOC violated RCW 42.17.260 by unlawfully redacting responsive and non-exempt material from the records it produced.
4. Declaration that the DOC violated RCW 42.17.320 by refusing to segregate exempt material from disclosable material and by failing to release the disclosable material.
5. Order that all responsive records be made immediately available to PLN for inspection and copying;
6. Order that the records produced in redacted form must be made immediately available to PLN for inspection and copying in unredacted form;
7. An award to PLN of all costs, including reasonable attorneys' fees, incurred in connection with its action as provided in RCW 42.17.340(4);
8. An award to PLN of $100.00 per day per document for each day that PLN has been denied the right to inspect or copy the requested records since April 21, 2000;
9. Any other relief the Court deems just and proper for this cause of action.

DATED this 17 day of November, 2000.
